

JUSTICE STUDIES

SPRING 2017 REGISTRATION NOTES

MOVING THROUGH THE MAJOR

JUST 200 is a prerequisite for all JUST courses. You must have successfully completed JUST 200 in order to take any other JUST course. JUST 200 may NOT be taken during the same semester as any other JUST-designated course.

JUST 200 and a track foundation course are requirements for all 300 level courses. You must have completed and passed JUST 200 and have completed or be enrolled in a track foundation course in order to register for any JUST 300 level courses for the following semester.

All majors must complete 6 elective courses designated for your track. Only two of these electives may be non-JUST-designated courses. At least four of them must be JUST-designated courses.

JUST majors need to take both foundation courses in their track and one JUST designated foundation course from outside their track. POSC 230 does not count as the non track foundation course. Enrolling in any JUST foundation course (210, 212, 221, 223, 235) makes you eligible to sign up for JUST 300 level courses the following semester.

MATH 220 is a pre-requisite for JUST 399. JUST 399 must be taken and passed before JUST 400.

Effective Fall 2015 the JUST 300 core course requirement changed. Students from this point forward will select one of the following courses to meet this requirement:

JUST 300: Comparative Justice

JUST 323: Comparative Criminal Justice

JUST 328: Race, Class and Justice (is NOT a track course)

Starting with the FALL 2015 semester JUST 323 does not count as a track course. If JUST 323 was taken prior to Fall 2015 it counts as a Track A course. Under no circumstances will JUST 323 count as both a required core course and a Track A course. We expect JUST 300 to be offered only occasionally in the future.

JUST 100: Proseminar (Online)

This course should ideally be taken junior year, though it is open for juniors and seniors. We focus on developing skills in pursuing internships, careers, graduate education, and civic engagement, including resume-writing, networking, and exploring opportunities.

JUST 200: Introduction to Justice Studies (Online)

JUST 200 may NOT be taken during the same semester as any other JUST-designated course EXCEPT for the General Education course JUST 225, Justice in American Society which does NOT carry credit in the major.

JUST 301 SPECIAL TOPICS

Each section of JUST 301 deals with a different topic.

See below for information regarding what track the different sections count toward. There is no limit to the number of JUST 301's that may be taken but students cannot repeat the same/similar topic for credit. Please see department email for course descriptions.

SECTION	JUST 301 TOPIC	COUNTS FOR:
1	TRANSFORMING JUVENILE JUSTICE	Tracks A&C
2	REFUGEES AND HUMANITARIAN RESPONSE	Tracks B&C
3	JUSTICE AND GLOBAL DISEASE CONTROL	Tracks B&C
4	RHETORIC AND JUSTICE	Tracks A& C
5	JUSTICE AND CRIME	Tracks A&C
6	SEX TRAFFICKING IN THE UNITED STATES	Tracks A&C
7	HOMELAND SECURITY ISSUES	Track A

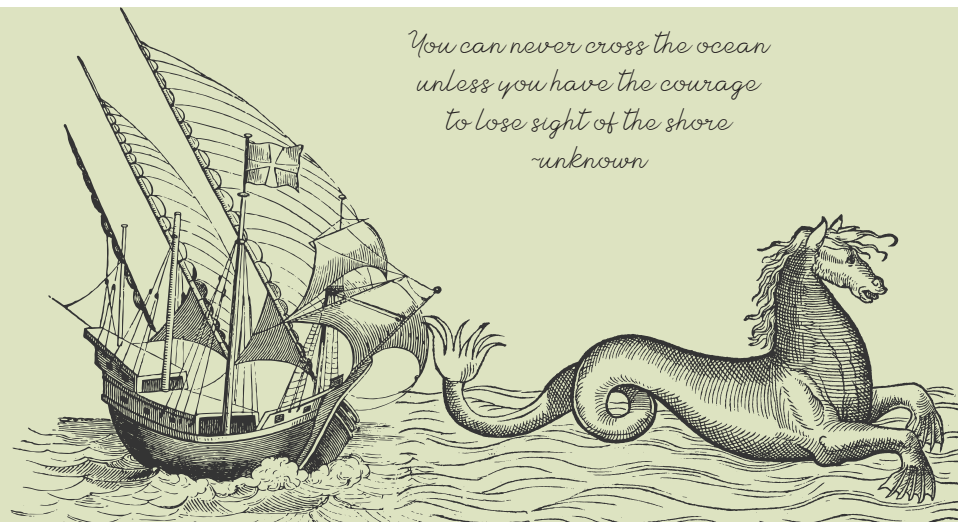

Do not sign up for classes if you have not met prerequisites in the course descriptions in the catalog without the permission of the department head.

JUST 400 SENIOR SEMINAR

Graduating seniors must make JUST 400 the first course they select in constructing a schedule. We have sufficient room for all seniors who have submitted graduation applications.

The following table provides information that will help you in making your selections among JUST 400 sections. All sections anticipate full student involvement in class discussions and any presentations that may be required as well as reading all assigned material.

INSTRUCTOR	PAPER ASSIGNMENT	THEME FOCUS
MEADE	The seminar focuses on discussions of potential and/or necessary changes to our current system of incarceration that would result in a more just system of punishment. The writing requirement for the course is a 25 page lit review/research proposal/policy analysis.	ISSUES IN INMATE CONFINEMENT AND REENTRY
ROBINSON	Students will be assigned 2 major papers related to the course theme, including a 15-page literature review and a 15-page issue analysis and proposal, and will give 2 formal presentations in class. There will also be smaller writing and reading assignments throughout the course.	CIVIL RIGHTS
DE FAZIO	This senior seminar investigates the interactions between protesters and police in democratic societies. Students will analyze how police forces across the world control mass demonstrations and political dissent. The final paper will consist of a cross-national comparison of patterns of protest policing.	POLICING OF PROTEST
SPIVEY	We have studied a number of injustices in our curriculum so now let's try to solve some of them. For this seminar each student will focus on his/her own issue (regardless of track) of injustice and create a policy to solve this injustice. Paper requirement: 20-25 policy brief which includes lit review	CREATING JUSTICE

ADVANCED COURSES REQUIRING PERMISSION

JUST 401: Internships

Internship requirements can be found on our department website. Please note that 240 hours of work are required. This can be quite difficult to accomplish in an academic semester. Most students do internships over the summer. An internship is not required for the Justice Studies major. Students must be enrolled in the internship course the semester it is being carried out in order to earn academic credit.

Special offering: JUST 402: Lynching in Virginia, 1880-1930

This course explores an often neglected form of racial terrorism in US history: lynchings in the South during the Reconstruction era. Students will collect historical newspaper articles about all the lynching events occurred in Virginia between 1880 and 1930; this original database will be made publicly available through a website. This course is especially appropriate for students interested in graduate study. The final research paper will be based on the lynching data collected during the semester. For further information, please contact Dr. De Fazio (defazigx@jmu.edu); instructor permission required (this course fulfills the Senior Seminar requirement, or it can be taken as an elective).

JUST 403: Nelson Institute Seminar

The Nelson Institute Seminar is a research consultancy class, designed to give participants practical experience in doing applied social research with the aim of benefiting a local agency, organization, or issue. Admission to the course is by departmental permission only.

JUST 499: Honors

All students who are doing an honors thesis in the department regardless of what stage in the process they are in or who their advisor is must enroll in JUST 499 A, B, or C. The course will meet periodically. Interested students should contact Dr. Hastedt for enrollment information and permission.

OVERRIDE POLICY

If a course is closed you have the opportunity to place your name on an automated wait list for that course/section. Students will be automatically enrolled if seats become available. We cannot issue overrides for courses where a waiting list is currently in place.

Justice studies will use this format for all courses except JUST 399 and JUST 400. You will still put your name on the wait list but we will put students into the course on a case by case basis. Should you have any problems registering you need to contact the department immediately.
